Looking back on great Super Bowl plays after a year of uncertainty

Like just about everything in American life the last year, Super Bowl LV will look different.

Indeed, when the Kansas City Chiefs and Tampa Bay Buccaneers square off in the NFL title game on Sunday, Feb. 7, on CBS, both teams, announcers Jim Nantz and Tony Romo and viewers at home will likely be seeing a Raymond James Stadium in Tampa, Fla., that will be filled to only 20 percent of its approximately 66,000-fan capacity, meaning about 13,000 attendees and a lot of cardboard figures. This per league pandemic protocols, and as usual, that could change by kickoff.

But what is known is there will likely be a play, a drive or a defensive stand that will have everyone talking Monday morning. It could be a seemingly impossible catch on fourth and long, a key interception in the closing seconds or a long field goal as time runs out. But it will be something for which this game will be remembered.

The following are a few from Super Bowls past that stand out.

“The Tackle” (Super Bowl XXXIV: St. Louis Rams vs. Tennessee Titans, 2000): Ahead 23-16 with 10 seconds remaining, Rams linebacker Mike Jones brought down Titans wide receiver Kevin Dyson one-yard shy of the goal line as time ran out, thus preserving the Rams’ heart-stopping victory.

“The Helmet Catch” (Super Bowl XLII: New England Patriots vs. New York Giants, 2008): Giants WR David Tyree hauls down a 32-yard pass from Eli Manning, pinning the ball against his helmet as he fell, a critical closing-seconds play that kept the game-winning drive alive in New York’s 17-14 upset of the previously undefeated Pats.

“The Stop” (Super Bowl XVI: Cincinnati Bengals vs. San Francisco 49ers, 1982): It was only one yard the Bengals needed to get into the end zone and back into what was a 20-7 game in the third quarter. But the defense didn’t give an inch in four plays, the Niners regained possession and went on to a 26-21 victory.

“Elway’s Helicopter Spin” (Super Bowl XXXII: Denver Broncos vs. Green Bay Packers, 1998): At third and six from the Packers’ 12 in the third quarter of a tie game, Broncos quarterback John Elway’s decision to leap head-first over a trio of Packers defenders resulted in a spinning first down – and ultimately the game-deciding drive in a 31-24 Denver triumph.

“Riggins’ Run” (Super Bowl XVII: Miami Dolphins vs. Washington Redskins, 1983): Down 17-13 and needing a yard to continue a third quarter drive, Washington called on bruising running back John Riggins to go off tackle to get the first down. But he did a little better, bouncing off defenders and rambling 43 yards for the score in a Washington 27-17 win.

“The Ambush”: (Super Bowl XLIV: Indianapolis Colts vs. New Orleans Saints, 2010): After watching his team sleep-walk through two quarters, Saints coach Sean Payton called for a onside kick to start the second half. The gutsy move paid off as New Orleans recovered, drove down the field for a touchdown that gave them the lead and momentum in what would become a Saints 31-17 victory.

Djokovic goes for three in a row at Melbourne

If you’re looking for a favorite in the men’s field at the 2021 Australian Open, look no further than Novak Djokovic.

Indeed, the 33-year-old Serb and World No. 1 has been the big man on campus at Melbourne Park since his debut there in 2005, owning a record eight singles titles (including championships in the 2019 and 2020 tournaments), a perfect 8-0 mark in finals play and an overall 75-8 won-lost record across 16 events. And his eight wins at the tennis year’s first major make up almost half of his 17 titles in the Grand Slams.

His victory last year Down Under was far from his easiest. Mourning the death of his friend Kobe Bryant in a helicopter crash days earlier, Djokovic was met by stiff competition from Dominic Thiem in the final. Struggling with his energy levels and consistency early, he fell behind to the 26-year-old Austrian two sets to one. But a break point that Djokovic managed to save in the fourth set turned the tide and he went on to win that set, 6-3, before taking command and slamming the door on his opponent in the fifth, 6-4.

Afterward, Djokovic was as relieved as he was celebratory.

“Definitely my favorite court and my favorite stadium in the world,” he said at the end of the gut-wrenching see-saw final, which lasted nearly four hours.

Djokovic will return to defend his title from top-ranked players including Thiem, Rafael Nadal, Daniil Medvedev, Stefanos Tsitsipas and Andrey Rublev when the 2021 Australian Open gets going Sunday Feb. 7 and airs through Feb. 21 on ESPN and ESPN2.

Get that kitchen in shape with tips from YouTube content creators

The holidays are history. You're bored, quarantined and likely looking for a project to distract you from what is surely a long, cold winter ahead. So why not take a look at the kitchen?

Yes, any home cook worth their salt knows that an organized kitchen not only saves space but also is the key to a smooth-functioning cooking operation. And from that, better meals will undoubtedly result.

A number of videos and channels on YouTube take on this very topic, a few of which are detailed below.

"10 Easy Kitchen Organization Ideas 2021" (www.youtube.com/watch?vPzdRG5epr4Q): Get the new year off right with interior designer Kristen McGowan, your host for this informative video that offers up budget-friendly ways of getting your kitchen in order, focusing on the countertop, pantry, cupboard and drawers. With a little imagination and a few glass containers, she transforms a kitchen in disarray into one that looks neat and tidy, if not stylish. She even has ideas for what to do with that open bag of pet food.

"Refrigerator Organization Ideas" (www.youtube.com/watch?vgvfkR6fw1lw): Another area that seems to be a magnet for disorganization and mess is the fridge. This video from LGQueen Home Decor tackles the problem starting with giving the appliance a good cleaning inside and out. Then, clear containers for items like eggs, fruits and vegetables allow for at-a-glance access to contents. In the end, they say, you'll have more room, there will be a place for everything and things won't look so cluttered.

"Small Pantry Organization" (www.youtube.com/watch?vGb3qOZIPtFA): From Carissa Nunez of "Carissa Cleans It All" comes this video in which she uses inexpensive organizers, glass jars and dry food containers to get her small closet pantry in ship shape and maximize its limited space. And the best part of it is the cost for the materials comes in at just under $100. Just the solution for those on a budget

"Master the Mess" (www.youtube.com/watch?v52017XT9rHg): Yes, it has production values more on par with a reality show but this series from professional organizers Clea Shearer and Joanna Teplin offers up some legitimate solutions as they tend to their clients' home organization problems in the Nashville, Tenn., area. Two videos that address the pantry and fridge aim to resolve some messy and in some cases unhealthy storage situations.

"Casablanca"

BEST TCM 'ROMANTIC WEEKEND GETAWAY' MOVIES

"Casablanca" (1942; Friday, Feb. 12) An ideal choice to launch Turner Classic Movies' "Romantic Weekend Getaway" festival, this all-time-great drama revolves largely around the revived love story of Rick and Ilsa (Humphrey Bogart, Ingrid Bergman), who face plenty of odds in the midst of wartime intrigue.

"West Side Story" (1961; Friday) A new, Steven Spielberg-directed version of the musical is on the way, but Robert Wise's edition starring Natalie Wood and Richard Beymer as star-crossed lovers Maria and Tony always will retain its place with film fans.

"From Here to Eternity" (1953; Saturday) The beach love scene between Burt Lancaster and Deborah Kerr is a defining image of the James Jones story about personal and professional relationships surrounding the attack on Pearl Harbor.

"Roman Holiday" (1953; Saturday) Audrey Hepburn became a star – and an Oscar-winning one at that – in this wonderful comedy with a familiar premise, the one about a member of royalty who wants to escape and live like a "regular person" for a while.

"Pillow Talk" (1959; Saturday) Doris Day and Rock Hudson started their run as a popular romantic-comedy duo as dissimilar people connected by a party line (and an Oscar-winning script).

"The Philadelphia Story" (1940; Sunday) A socialite's (Katharine Hepburn) impending remarriage gives her tabloid-reporter ex-husband (Cary Grant) second thoughts in this comedy, legendary on both stage and screen.

"The Way We Were" (1973; Sunday) Barbra Streisand and Robert Redford evoke sheer star power, as well as very good acting, in director Sydney Pollack's drama that smartly incorporates a dark period in Hollywood's history.

In Focus

“Luda Can’t Cook” (discovery+ — series premiere, Feb. 25)

Hip-hop icon, accomplished actor and successful restaurateur Chris “Ludacris” Bridges is a food aficionado but has one significant culinary problem — he can’t cook. His goal is to change that, with the help of James Beard Award-nominated Chef Meherwan Irani. First up on his educational menu is Indian cuisine, also his personal favorite, which will test his newly aquired skills. His final exam will include serving those dishes to a room full of VIPs, including his mother.

“Punky Brewster” (Peacock — series premiere, Feb. 25)

In this continuation of the popular 1980s sitcom, Punky (Soleil Moon Frye) is now a single mother of three trying to get her life back on track when she meets a young girl who reminds her a lot of her younger self. Cherie Johnson will reprise her role of Punky’s best friend Cherie and other stars include Freddie Prinze Jr., Quinn Copeland, Noah Cottrell, Oliver De Los Santos and Lauren Lindsey Donzis. Viewers can also catch up on the original series which is now available on the streaming service.
